history

In 1879 with the support of and for the State Medical Society, certain physicians of Little Rock under the leadership of Doctor Hooper formed a stock company and inaugurated a medical school for the state. The University accepted this institution as the Medical Department of the University, granting degrees to the graduates, but without assuming any financial support. The cost of operation was borne by student fees. It was 65 years before the fiscal picture was changed.

The school's first building was a three-story brick and stone building at 113 West Second Street. It contained a dissecting laboratory, two amphitheaters for lectures and clinics, and an office. In 1890, the school moved to East Second and Sherman Streets to a building designed for it. This one contained a lecture hall, amphitheater, library, museum, dissecting room, treatment room and offices, and the city's charity hospital. In 1912 the Medical School moved to the Old State House.

The second home of the Medical School continued in use until 1935, with the didactic and laboratory instruction being offered at the Old State House and the clinical instruction in the new city hospital. In 1935, a new Medical School building was constructed facing MacArthur Park. These buildings remained the Medical School's home until it moved to its present facilities in 1956.

The caduceus is the symbol of medicine. The true caduceus consists of the staff of Aesclepius about which is entwined a single serpent. The medical significance of such an emblem is supposed to lie in the fact that the serpent is a symbol of healing; some say because of its long life; others because the annual renewal of its skin suggests the renewal of youth or health; still others have suggested the keen sight of the serpent. On the cover you see a modern version of this symbol.

We take pride in presenting the 1963 Caduceus, the yearly record of the various schools of the University of Arkansas Medical Center. We sincerely hope it represents their point of view. It is inevitable that mistakes would be made; for these, the staff must take full responsibility and can only offer our humble apologies. We are grateful to the many who helped us with the production of this yearbook and we certainly hope you like it.

The medical school seniors are to be reminded of their class reunion in ten years, JUNE 1973. Your class president asks that you keep the dean's office informed of your address.

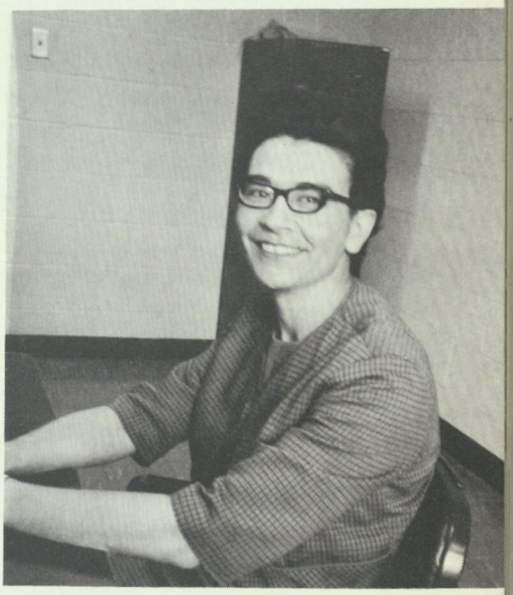
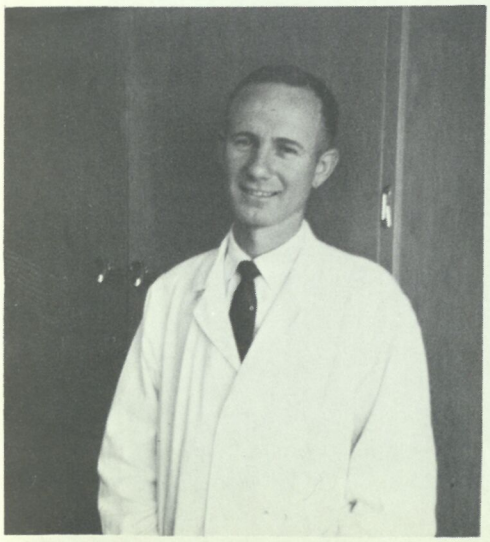
Known and respected throughout the state many years for his vast knowledge, clinical acumen and heart warming personality, the head of the otolaryngology department has devoted much of his valuable time in the interest of teaching. The students of the school of medicine take great pride in dedicating their portion of the yearbook to the inimitable Paul L. Mahoney, M.D.



We, the students of the school of nursing, wish to dedicate our portion of the yearbook to Miss Frances Dalme, who, in less than nine months, has become almost a legend within our school. Her wisdom, humor, and sense of fairness temper a course in which thorough knowledge and its skillful application are demanded. Viewed in the light of her personal example, all the idealisms of nursing have come to seem achievable for ourselves.



The students of the School of Pharmacy wish to dedicate their portion of the yearbook to Dr. Sam Britton. Although he has been with us only two years, we recognize with gratitude his sincerity, understanding, and dedication to teaching. For his ability to look at a problem from the student's point of view, we respect Dr. Britton. And we feel that pharmacy has been made better by having him with us.

HENRY "HODGE" KIRBY

After retiring from the Air Force, at the age of 41, and at a time when lesser men would have been content to rest on their laurels, he entered the study of medicine. Death took him one year short of his goal. Courage like this could not help but make better those of us who were associated with him.

WILIAM RILEY BROOKSHER, JR.

Unexpected, premature deaths shockingly and soberly remind us of our mortal frailty. Yet, the remembrance of Dr. Brooksher — his vitality, love of life, dedication to his work, laughing spirit, and flying coattails — will live on in our memories.

oath of hippocrates

I do solemnly swear . . .
by that which I hold most sacred . . .
that I will be loyal to the profession of medicine . . .
and just and generous to its members . . .
that I well lead my life . . .
and practice my art . . .
in uprighteousness and honor . . .
that into whatsoever house I shall enter . . .
it shall be for the good of the sick . . .
to the utmost of my power . . .
I holding myself aloof from wrong . . . from corruption . . .
from the tempting of others to vice . . .
that I will exercise my art . . .
solely for the cure of my patients . . .
and will give no drug . . . perform no operation . . .
for a criminal purpose . . . even if solicited . . .
far less suggest it . . .
that whatsoever I shall see or hear . . .
of the lives of men . . . which is not fitting to be spoken . . .
I will keep inviolably secret . . .
these things I do promise . . .
and in proportion as I am faithful to this my oath . . .
may happiness and good repute be ever mine . . .
the opposite if I shall be foresworn.

ila wright steinkamp award

Jo Ann Hennessy

The Student Nurse Association takes pleasure in announcing in the 1963 Caduceus the Ila Wright Steinkamp Award. Established in 1962, the Award honors the outstanding graduating student nurse. The recipient is chosen by the student body and faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership, nursing competence, and professional and community activities.

The purpose of our award is not unlike that of the lighted lamp, symbolizing the nursing profession and representing all the true attributes of the nurse. We want to inspire each individual student to attain more perfectly the goals of the ideal nurse.

Mrs. Steinkamp has contributed a great deal to the University of Arkansas School of Nursing as well as to the entire field of nursing. As early as 1935 she began working toward the establishment of a degree nursing program in Arkansas. Formerly Assistant Professor in Nursing at UMAC, now at Northwestern State College School of Nursing, Nachitoches, Louisiana, always an active member of nursing organizations, she is a credit to our profession.

One of the most stimulating and inspiring experiences of the senior year has been public health nursing. The nurses of the North Little Rock and Little Rock health departments gave generously of their time and knowledge to make each student nurse feel that she was gaining confidence, skill, and insight to meet standards of total patient care. Under the dynamic influence of our public health instructor, Miss Dalme, it seems we have come nearer to gaining these valuable qualities. Classes and field experiences which were conducted in an atmosphere of freedom gave each student an equal opportunity. The success and satisfaction of this course will not be forgotten.

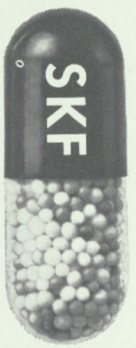
We, the CADUSEUS Staff, earnestly admonish the faculty and students of the Medical Center to patronize the business men who advertise on the following pages. It is largely their support and good will toward our endeavors that made this yearbook an actuality.

This is a capsule...



●●● and it looks deceptively simple. Certainly not as complex as an x-ray machine, a fully equipped operating room, or a modern pharmaceutical analysis laboratory. But appearances can be deceiving. Into this capsule went countless hours of research, the clinical investigation of thousands of patients by scores of physicians and–finally–painstaking manufacturing controls. And–with the help of this capsule–physicians are able to provide more effective care for their patients.

Smith Kline & French Laboratories is dedicated to the discovery and manufacture of these seemingly simple medicines . . . prescription drugs which have revolutionized the physician's treatment of his patients.

Just a Word About Our Professional Planning

Our Planning Department is always glad to offer planning suggestions to you without obligation or expense. Through more efficient planning of your office, you may be able to effect a saving in rent and a consequent reduction in "overhead." By more wisely using the office space available you may be able to change the entire character of your office to such an extent that your clientele and your earnings will be substantially increased. In establishing your new office, it is best to begin with the finest equipment. Fine furniture lasts a lifetime, commands the respect of your patients, and in terms of service years it is cheaper. We make it a part of our business to know where the better locations are. Stover Location Data Service is always available to you.

We are proud that we can take an active part in the growth of the University of Arkansas Medical Center. Some of our other accomplishments have been the construction of:

Warner-Brown Hospital, El Dorado; St. Edwards Mercy Hospital, Ft. Smith; Science Building, Fayetteville; Barton Institute, Little Rock; North Little Rock Memorial, North Little Rock.

Almost everything you need—musically speaking is at Moses Melody Shop. Hi-fi's, stereos, television, recorders, recordings—and a complete service department.
